DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-10, 12-24, 27-30, drawn to an isolated nucleotide sequence, a DNA expression cassette, a plant cell, a transgenic plant or a method of making said transgenic plant comprising said nucleotide sequence.

Group II, claim 11, drawn to an isolated peptide.

Group III, claim(s) 25, 31, 38-40, 42-44, 47, drawn to a method of modifying a plant or producing a plant with modified stress response and/or growth potential, or wherein said modification is decreased stress tolerance and/or decreased growth potential compared to an unmodified plant.

Group IV, claim(s) 26, drawn to a method of identifying and isolating a DNA sequence.

Group V, claim(s) 31-37, 41-44 and 47, drawn to a method of producing a transgenic plant with a modified stress response and/or growth potential using sense expression of a nucleic acid encoding a peptide, or wherein said expression results in increased tolerance to stress and/or increased growth potential compared to an unmodified plant.

Group VI, claim(s) 45-46, drawn to a method of identifying a plant.

Group VII, claim(s) 48-52, drawn to a bicistronic vector and a transgenic plant comprising said bicistronic vector.

The inventions listed as Group I-VII do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The technical feature linking Groups I-VII appears to be a nucleotide sequence encoding a ROB5 protein with stress tolerance property, a fragment thereof or a nucleotide sequence which hybridizes to said nucleotide sequence. However, Wu et al.

(NCBI, GenBank Sequence Accession No. AY057933, Published October 31, 2001) teach a nucleotide sequence of Bromus inermis encoding a stress-inducible protein. The nucleotide sequence taught in the reference reads on any fragment derived from a nucleotide sequence encoding instant ROB5 protein or a nucleotide sequence that hybridizes to instant nucleotide sequence.

Therefore the technical feature linking the inventions of Groups I-VII does not constitute a special technical feature as defined by PCT Rule 13.2, as it does not define a contribution over the prior art.

Applicants are reminded that different nucleotide sequences and amino acid sequences are structurally distinct chemical compounds and are unrelated to one another. These genes encoding different types of enzymes are thus deemed to normally constitute different inventive concepts.

Accordingly, Groups I-VII are not so linked by the same or a corresponding special technical feature as to form a single general inventive concept.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
